ALL IN THE WRONG.

AS Contemplation, even upon Subjects apparently trifling, often furnishes a Train of useful Ideas, I cannot help furnishing you with my Thoughts, relative to an Incident of last Week; I mean the Anniversary of his Majesty's Accession to the Throne being celebrated, at Drury-Lane Theatre, by a Comedy, with the whimsical, yet significant, Title of All in the Wrong. What could be meant by this Choice, at such a Point of Time, I am at a Loss to understand; as we know, by British Policy, a King can do no Wrong. I am apt to view it as a Stroke of keen general Satire: To justify and explain this Opinion, will not, I hope, prove a fruitless or superfluous Undertaking.

To trace the farcical Propriety which I contend for, it may be necessary to lay down one very plain Position, incontrovertible by any Party; that they who are not right, must certainly be wrong; and then a short View of subject Gradations in Life will show, that a vast Majority labour more to deserve the latter than the former Epithet.

All Statesmen are in the Wrong, with Respect to Policy as well as Justice, who make the high Offices of Government subservient to selfish Purposes; for, in such a Case, they undoubtedly seat themselves under the hair-suspended Sword of Damocles. They are wrong to feed a languishing Exchequer by unwholesome Supplies, derived from oppressive and unpopular Taxes; to hedge the Monarch in, so that Truth cannot approach; to make him believe, that every Complaint against them springs from some odious or contemptible Faction; to enlarge the Ideas of Prerogative, and cramp the Principles of Liberty; to call Obstinacy Firmness, Venality Prudence, and Blundering Wisdom. It is neither consistent with your Safety or mine, Mr. Printer, to mention Names, else I could exhibit as Capital a Set of living political Actors, qualified upon the above Principles for All in the Wrong, as ever ornamented any State, or Period of Time, in the known World.

The Title of Mr. Murphy's Piece is undoubtedly applicable also to any House of Peers, which endeavours to gain an undue Influence over the House of Commons; and those Representatives of the People, who betray the sacred Trust reposed in them, to gain Places, Titles, or Pensions; to provide for Relations of Dependents: Who sacrifice their own Privileges and Dignity to serve ministerial Purposes, most assuredly may be considered as tame, venal, parroted Performers of All in the Wrong.

Bishops, who at the Time of Consecration pronounce a hypocritical Negative, and say no to that Prefertment they have long wished and solicited, like coy Girls to their Sweethearts; Bishops, who have more fat Livings than moral or religious Virtues; inferior Clergy, who cringe, flatter and fawn, to obtain Promotion; who preach to amuse their Patrons, not to edify their Flocks; who have more Pride than Charity; however they enjoy the Goods of this Life, are constantly exhibiting, as they will find too late, All in the Wrong.

Parents, who through mistaken Partiality or Tenderness, overlook, cannot see, or will not restrain the Follies and Passions of their rising Offspring; Children, who hold dutiful Obedience in slight Estimation; who fancy Confidence Wisdom, and despise the Instruction of graver Years, because not totally consistent with their volatile Inclinations; Parents or Guardians, who deny essential Indulgence, and take every harsh Method of depressing youthful Spirits; Husbands and Wives, who neglect domestic Oeconomy, who injure the Marriage Vow by licentious Deviations, and who interrupt mutual Happiness by malevolent Jars and Recriminations, may be considered as very active and conspicuous Personages in material Scenes of All in the Wrong.

In Trade, those Masters who endeavour to accumulate enormous Fortunes by the ill-paid Sweat of industrious Servants; who enter into barbarous Combinations for withholding Wages which their Profits afford, and they ought to give; Journeymen, who forgetting the essential Peace and Order of civil Society, take compulsive Measures in their own Hands, to the Violation of all Law, appear most censurably, All in the Wrong.

As Electors, those Persons who give their Voice without consulting that most faithful Monitor, Conscience; who sacrifice themselves, or Posterity, to Principles of fordid Interest, empty Pride, or shameful Timidity; who want Sense, Honesty, or Courage, to withstand the Chicanery, Temptation, and Threats of Superiors; who delegate a Power of the utmost Consequence, without considering or caring into whose Hands it falls, are most melancholy and contemptible Actors of All in the Wrong.

I shall conclude with asking any Reader's Opinion, Whether he does not candidly think, that nine Persons out of ten in this Kingdom at present, High or Low, Male or Female, are labouring with most assiduous Emulation to support with unpeppable Pride; that admired, fashionable, national Piece, called All in the Wrong?

From the PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE, February 1, 1770.
O PATRIA, TEMPORA mutantur!

THOUGH I am young, O Americans! I plainly perceive, that a gloomy Cloud, importing Disaster, hangs over our Country; that Liberty, like a timorous Hind, is flying from us; how melancholy the Thought! Therefore let me exhort you to rouse, and awake from your Lethargy! Betlink yourselves of some Means, whereby you may be extricated: For lo! Liberty, like a blooming Virgin in Distress, calls aloud for the Assistance of the generous Sons of America, to support her glorious Cause: Join Hand in Hand, as People possessed of one, and a noble Mind; let no tyrannous Acts ever suppress your just Claim, or ruin your Country; ever, O my Countrymen, suffer any Stain of Dishonour to disgrace the Name of an American! Remember ye were born in Freedom; that your Forefathers did courageously flee to Climates, that were before unknown, and, through the flaming Ocean, came to Deserts wild and rugged, in order to procure that Freedom, which dying, they bequeathed to you, their Posterity! How did their generous Souls despise all Dangers! With how much Care, Anxiety, and Toil, did they, with their own Hands, rear the Tree of Liberty! Had you been then, you might have heard them in Transports cry out, now we have gained our Wishes, how happy will it render our Posterity! And will you be so impolitic, as not to endeavour to preserve the same Invaluable for your Posterity? Will you seat yourselves down in Ease, while you behold Swarms of Placemen and Pensioners rear their ghastly Heads, and let them, like rapacious Locusts, devour your Rights and Privileges? And this will be your unhappy Fate, unless you relieve yourselves, by joining Hand in Hand to bear down, and even demolish, those ghastly Phantoms: O be united, then you will stand; if you are divided amongst yourselves, you will surely fall! Stand fast in this righteous Cause, for Heaven will surely approve; remember your precious Offspring, and try to hand down unto them the same Freedom, that by your Ancestors was transmitted to you. Methinks, could you but see into Futurity, and view your Posterity (unless you exert yourselves) groaning under the Weight of Oppression, forced to bow their Knees to arbitrary Power, yes, having all their valuable Rights and Privileges taken by Violence from them: Would not your Souls shrink within you? Would you not in Bitterness of Mind cry out, O Fili! O Patri! Tempora mutantur.

FILIUS AMERICAN!

NEW-YORK, FEBRUARY 15.

Yesterday, the Forty-fifth Day of the Year, 45 Gentlemen, real Enemies to Internal Taxation, by, or in obedience to external authority, and cordial Friends to Capt. M'Dougall, and the glorious cause of American Liberty, went in decent procession to the New Goal; and dined with him on 45 pounds of Beef-stakes, cut from a Bullock of 45 Months old, and with a number of other Friends, who joined them in the Afternoon, drank a variety of Toasts, expressive not only of the most undiminished Loyalty, but of the warmest attachment to Liberty, its renowned advocates in Great-Britain and America, and the freedom of the Press. Before the Evening the Company, who conducted themselves with great Decency, separated in the most cordial Manner, but not without the firmest Resolution, to continue united in the glorious Cause.

Extract of a Letter from Caracas, December 22, 1769.

We have much talk of a WAR with us: By Ships from Amsterdam they write, That the States are fitting out a very large Fleet, and a French Gentleman told a Friend of ours, in confidence, that every Planter at Gaudaloupe, was ordered to keep 20 Men in readiness, with Arms and Ammunition, and that eight Men of War were daily expected from France."

BOSTON, FEBRUARY 26.

By the last Advice from London, we learn, That the Non-Importation Agreement of the Merchants in America, begins to be so severely felt by the Manufacturers, as to render it very necessary for Parliament to do something for their Relief, that if we continue to be united and firmly to adhere in that salutary Measure we may be sure of success. The Ministry begin to see that they have been deceived by the fallacious representations of some interested Tools on this side the Water, they no longer believe that the opposition in America is a petty dying Faction, that instead of the Colonies being irrefoluble and divided, they are more firmly united than ever, and that they can neither be intimidated nor amused.-----In short that the Ministry had hitherto built much upon accomplishing their Scheme for raising a Revenue in America from the disunion of the Colonies: That they now found themselves mistaken, and that they had built upon a wrong Foundation.-----We further learn, that Sir Francis Bernard never will or can have any Connections with us, or be able either to serve or hurt us.-----

The Corporation of the College in Rhode-Island Government met at Warren on the 7th Instant, and voted, 21 to 14, that the Edifice be built at Providence.

Last Thursday Morning about 10 o'Clock, some Boys and Children set up a large wooden Head, with a Board faced with paper, on which was painted the figures of four of the Importers, who had entered into, and violated the Merchants agreement, in the middle of the street before Theophilus Lillie's door, who was one of them. Soon after it was set up, Ebenezer Richardson, the famous Informer, came by, and endeavoured to persuade a countryman to overturn it with his waggon; which he refusing, he applied to a Charcoal-man; to drive his Cart against it; but he said he had no business with it, and would not concern himself about it. Richardson (as the Boys say) pressed him to it, saying he was a magistrate in the town, and would bear him out in it. The man still denying to meddle therewith, Richardson laid hold on the horse and oxen, and endeavoured to shove them upon the pole which supported the pageantry; the cart however passed without disturbing it. Richardson then left the place and came towards his own house at about 50 or 60 paces distant, and meeting with Messrs. Edward Proctor, Thomas Knox, Capts. Riordon and Skillings, faced them in a very impudent manner, and cried out, perjury! perjury! often repeating it as he passed them. The Gentlemen halted in the street, still getting within his door, he turned about and again repeated the insult. Mr. Proctor with the other Gentlemen stepped towards the door, and asked him what he meant by perjury? He said, I don't mean you Mr. Proctor, but looking spitefully on Mr. Knox, said d---mn you, perjury, villains! Mr. Knox retorted the abuse; on which Richardson said, by the eternal O---d, I will make it too hot for some of you before night! The Boys on hearing the words began to gather round, and call him Informer; on which both he and his wife, or woman, went out and talked to them in a very provoking manner, flourishing their arms, and advancing out into the street, with high threatenings; on which the children would retreat, and on their return, advance, with the squealing and noise they usually make on such occasions. This farce soon made a notable diversion in favour of Mr. Lillie, Mr. Richardson and Lady having drawn the whole attention on themselves. The Boys at length began to throw light rubbish of one kind or other, as if to drive them into the house; this the woman often returned, till the matter became more exact. They then retreated into the house, and speedily Richardson opened the door, and snapped a gun presented upon the people indiscriminately. This raised them so much that they then pored the house, and broke some of the windows.-----In a few minutes after this, Richardson fired out of one of the windows among the people and wounded Mr. Samany Gore, son of Capt. John Gore, through both thighs and two fingers of his right hand, besides which, drove (one would think) a moderate charge into the breast and abdomen of Christopher Snider, a boy about 11 years of age, who lived with Madam Athorp. The child fell, but was taken up and carried into a neighbouring house, where all the surgeons within call were assembled, and speedily determined the wounds mortal, as they indeed proved about 9 o'clock that evening. The people on hearing the report of the gun, seeing one wounded and another as they thought killed, got into the new brick meeting and rang the bell, on which they soon had company enough to besiege the house front and rear; by the latter of which they entered, and notwithstanding the menaces of Richardson and his faithful aider and abettor George Wilnot, seized on both, and wrenched a gun from the latter, heavily charged with powder, and cramed with 179 goods and buck shot.

'Tis said that some Persons went into Richardson before he fired, and dissuaded him from it, but the event showed he was not to be diverted from his design. The criminals were first carried before Mr. Justice Ruddock, who was pleased to send them to Faneuil-Hall, under a sufficient guard, where three other magistrates, Richard Dana, Edmund Quincy, and Samuel Pemberton, Esqrs. with Mr. Ruddock, took their examination before at least a thousand people, and committed them. The numberless affronts and abuses both these persons had heaped on the inhabitants, exasperated them to such a pitch, that had not Gentlemen of influence interposed, they would never have reached the prison; but to the satisfaction of every good man, they are now in safe custody, where we leave them, to observe, that soon after the child's decease, his body was opened by Dr. Wallen and others, and in it were found eleven shot or slugs, about the bigness of large peas, one of which pierced his breast about an inch and half above the midriff, and passing clear through the right lobe of the lungs, lodged in his back. This, three of the surgeons deposed, before the jury of inquest, was the cause of his death; on which they brought in their verdict, wilful murder by said Richardson. The right hand of the boy was also cruelly torn, whence it seems to have been a rofs his breast, and to have deadened the force of the shot, which might otherwise have pierced the stomach.

Dr. Warren likewise cut two slugs out of young Mr. Gore's thigh, but pronounced him in no danger of death, though in all probability he will lose the use of the right fore finger, by the wound received there; much important to a youth of his dexterity in drawing and painting.-----

The JOURNEY through Life.

WHILE thro' life's thorny road I go,
I will not want companions too;
A dreary journey, and alone,
Would be alas! too troublesome:
But company that's choice and good
Makes trouble hardly understood;
For toil divided, seems to be
No toil, but a felicity;
Therefore will I companions take,
As well for ease as safety's sake.
Fair youth shall serve me for a guide,
Justice shall never leave my side,
Integrity my trusty guard,
Nor will I caution quite discard;
Experience shall my tutor be,
Nor will I wiser seem than he;
Discretion all my thoughts shall weigh,
And modify my words convey;
Soft innocence protect my sleep,
And chastity my purse shall keep.
Thus thro' this wilderness I'll stray,
Nor ever fear to lose my way;
The fages I sometimes will see,
Be sometimes with the muses free;
With guileless mirth an hour beguile,
Or with free spoken satyr smile;
With meditation often walk,
Or with sweet melancholy talk.
With these companions dear I'll sport,
Nor heed the journey long or short.
So health supply the doctor's place;
And for a chaplain I've God's grace.
